Standard Warranty

All new products carry the manufacturer's warranty stated on the product page. Typical durations are: laptops 12 months, smartphones 12 months (6 months on in-box accessories such as chargers and cables), audio products 12 months, smart home devices 12 months, and large appliances 12 months on the unit with extended cover on specific components such as compressors (10 years) and motors (5 years).

Warranty begins on the invoice date, not on the date of first use. Your TechMart tax invoice, downloadable from Orders, is a valid proof of purchase for all warranty claims.

TechMart Care Extended Warranty

TechMart Care extends the manufacturer warranty by 12 or 24 additional months. It must be purchased within 30 days of the product invoice date. Pricing is 6 to 9 percent of the product value depending on category.

TechMart Care covers manufacturing defects and functional failures after the standard warranty expires. It does not convert into accidental or liquid damage cover, which is sold separately as TechMart Care+.

What Is Not Covered

Physical damage, cracked screens, bent frames, liquid ingress, damage from voltage fluctuation without a surge protector, normal cosmetic wear, and consumable parts such as batteries degrading below 80 percent health through normal use are not covered.

Warranty is void if the device has been opened or repaired by an unauthorised service centre, if the serial number or IMEI is removed or altered, or if the software has been modified in an unsupported way (rooting, jailbreaking, unlocking the bootloader).

Software problems, data loss, and issues caused by third-party applications are not warranty items. Back up your data before any service visit; service centres are not liable for data on the device.

Raising a Warranty Claim

For claims within 14 days of delivery (30 for Premium), raise a return through TechMart and we handle it as a defective return with a full refund or replacement.

After the return window, warranty claims go directly to the manufacturer's authorised service centre. Find your nearest centre using the brand's service locator, carry the device with the TechMart tax invoice, and obtain a job sheet number. TechMart can help you locate the centre and follow up with the brand, but the repair decision rests with the manufacturer.

Standard turnaround at service centres is 7 to 15 business days. If the brand declares the unit beyond economic repair, they issue a replacement or a credit note directly - TechMart does not refund post-window warranty failures.
